

2021_1-句子抄录_柯依娃

---

Movies: serious or entertaining?

---

1. The world's movie industry has witnessed unprecedented boom in recent years.
2. To some extent, serious movies are playing the role of pilots that can guide people psychologically.
3. Needless to say, watching such a movie is just like going on an unforgettable inner journey.
4. The legendary life of Forest Gump leaves a profound impression on all audiences.
5. As a matter of fact, seldom do I watch funny movies more than once.
6. Therefore, the merits encompassed within serious movies far outweigh those of funny movies.

Is relating well to others more important than studying hard?

---

1. It has been widely acknowledged that relating well to others paves the way for people to achieve professional success.
2. In this regard, we may refer to Madam Curie, a Polish physicist and chemist famous for her pioneering research on radioactivity.
3. It is such a dramatic effect that depicts the value of working harmoniously and resolving any conflicts.
4. By no means could one succeed if he or she is only good at reciting theories and cannot put what has been learned into practice.

Do grades encourage students to learn?

---

1. Having a glimpse of the current situation in education around the globe, we may marvel at the large variety of examinations students must take each semester.
2. In a sense, pursuing high grades is indeed an essential stimulus for students to concentrate on their textbooks.
3. It is admitted that marks really encourage the students to learn, but their importance should not be exaggerated.
4. Those who win will make greater efforts to safeguard their superior results, whereas those who lose in the competition will work harder to erase past mistakes and continue the fight for a better outcome next time.
5. As a common notion suggests, learning from past mistakes helps avoid future ones.
6. Consequently, as long as the grading system is managed appropriately at schools, students will always cherish the dream of gaining high marks and thus have the impetus to fight for it.
7. Concerning all the details mentioned above, there is every reason to believe that grades contribute much to stimulating a student's passion for learning.

Is daily homework necessary for students?

---

1. Just as Confucius once said, "To learn with constant perseverance and practice what you have learned is a pleasure."
2. From a certain angle, parents are regarded as good teachers at home.
3. If they are deprived of the freedom to do anything they like, their enthusiasm in learning might fade considerably.
4. Based on all the reasons listed above, I reiterate my standpoint that doing homework is a tradition that should be carried out, but it is not supposed to be a heavy daily burden on the students.

Is the ability to write well more important than that of speaking?

---

1. Among these abilities, both speaking and writing are to be emphasized.
2. Thus, understanding can be achieved and the circle of friendship can be broadened and strengthened.
3. To illustrate, for a student, good writing ability helps them obtain high marks on the examination papers.
4. For a white collar worker, having the competence to draft articles may be an important stepping stone leading toward promotion and career success.
5. By expressing his sharp viewpoints about the society, he made the world aware of the social reality of the time.
6. The same is true with any other masterpieces to be eternally cherished and memorized.

行文:

1. 纵观, 引论, 站队现状, 站队According to my preference
2. To begin with, 论点1, enrich people's inner world, 道理, 类比, 例子
3. In addition, 论点2, provides people with an opportunity to comprehend a vast amount of knowledge. , 例子, 论点2.1 (history) , 例子
4. Even though, 反驳, 对比, 论点3, remember
5. Therefore, 总结, 对象归纳, 结论or未来展观